In 1991, the Rockefeller Brothers Fund entered into an agreement with the National Trust for Historic Preservation in the United States under which the Fund is responsible for the renovation, maintenance, and operation of this historic site which is to be used both for a program of public visitation and for a philanthropic program. In 2011, the public visitation program, organized by Historic Hudson Valley, hosted 30,397 visitors. In its capacity as steward of the Pocantico Historic Area, in 2011 the Rockefeller Brothers Fund continued its efforts to preserve and conserve the collections and buildings in its care.

Amount: $3,428,352

Line 2 Assistance to Charitable Organizations:

During 2011, 14 members of the staff of Rockefeller Brothers Fund provided technical assistance to charitable organizations, governmental bodies and committees, and 19 members of the staff served on 72 charitable organizations' boards, public commissions, or task forces.

Amount: $857,313

Line 3 Pocantico Conference Center

The Pocantico Conference Center of the Rockefeller Brothers Fund, located within the Pocantico Historic Area (see Line 1, above), began operations in April of 1994. The purpose of the Pocantico Conference Center is to provide a setting where nonprofit organizations and public sector institutions can bring together people of diverse backgrounds and perspectives to engage in discussions of critical issues related to the Fund's philanthropic program, leading to new levels of understanding and creative resolution of problems. In 2011, 65 conferences and 16 public programs were hosted at the Conference Center. Pocantico Conferences, usually multi-day events, are designed by RBF staff, grantees and/or outside groups whose objectives are consistent with the program interests of the Fund.

Amount: $388,190

PART XV, Line 2a

Grant Inquiries are accepted throughout the year at www.rbf.org. The online Grant Inquiry is the starting point for applying for a grant from the Rockefeller Brothers Fund.

PART XV, Line 2b

Founded in 1940, the Rockefeller Brothers Fund advances social change that contributes to a more just, sustainable, and peaceful world. The Fund's grantmaking is organized in three thematic programs that support work in the United States and at the global level: Democratic Practice, Sustainable Development, and Peacebuilding; and in three pivotal place programs that address these themes in specific contexts: New York City, Southern China, and the Western Balkans.

The Rockefeller Brothers Fund is highly engaged in the fields in which the RBF provides support. Staff members actively identify organizations that are well-positioned to meet programmatic goals. While the Fund remains open to unsolicited requests, applicants should be aware that the likelihood of an unsolicited request becoming a grant is low. The online grant inquiry is the starting point for requesting a grant.

Applications for funding are considered throughout the year for most programs, except for the Charles E. Culpeper Arts and Culture grants. The first step for prospective applicants is to submit an online grant inquiry. The review process may take up to three months from the time the inquiry is received.

Staff review each inquiry for fit within current program guidelines, funding priorities, and budget constraints. If there is interest in considering a grant, staff will contact the applicant for additional information, including a detailed proposal. Applicants should not send a full proposal unless requested to do so by Fund staff. The review process may take up to three months from the time the inquiry is received.

Once a grant is approved, grantees will receive an agreement letter from the Fund outlining the terms of the grant, including the expected reporting requirements and payment schedule. The first payment on the grant is generally issued upon return of the countersigned award letter to the Fund.

RBF staff members monitor grants throughout their life cycle. Each grantee is required to submit narrative and financial reports at specified intervals during the grant as well as at its conclusion. Grant reports become part of the Fund's permanent records.

PART XV, Line 2c

The Charles E. Culpeper Arts & Culture Grants honor the legacy of Charles E. Culpeper by supporting the artists and arts and cultural organizations that make New York City one of the world's most dynamic creative capitals. Managed by the Fund's Pivotal Place: New York City program, these grants support the creative process, build the capacity of small and mid-size arts and cultural institutions, and promote the pursuit of the creative life.

The standard online grant inquiry process does not apply for these grants. Applications may only be submitted online. Because of the response to the 2011 request for proposals, the Fund will not be issuing requests for proposals in 2012 and 2013.

ELIGIBILITY

- Organizations based within the five boroughs of New York City
- Organizations with 501(c)(3) tax status or projects of sponsoring organizations with 501(c)(3) tax status
- For capacity-building grants, organizations with annual operating budgets between $200,000 and $4 million
- Generally, no capital campaigns, festivals, publications, films, meetings, cash reserve funds, or endowments
- Support for arts education has been phased out

TIPS FOR SUCCESSFUL APPLICATIONS

Requests for one-year Building Capacity in Arts and Cultural Organizations grants should outline discrete, time-bound projects that contribute to the overall efficiency of the organization. Requests should describe how the project will help the organization more effectively pursue its mission and overall work. Past grants have enabled organizations to increase earned income revenue by implementing new technology and launch individual donor fundraising campaigns. Building Capacity in Arts and Cultural Organizations grants are non-renewable, one-year grants.

Supporting the Creative Process grants support residencies, fellowships, commissioning, and other programs that help individual artists create new work and further their artistic careers. Creative process grants are targeted toward programs that benefit New York City artists, emerging artists, and artists of color. Supporting the Creative Process grants are non-renewable, one-year grants. Requests for support should describe how the project will directly support the production of new work by individual artists.

PART XV, Line 2d

The Rockefeller Brothers Fund awards grants throughout the year to support a variety of charitable projects in the United States and abroad that seek to expand knowledge, clarify values and critical choices, nurture creative expression, and shape public policy.

To be eligible for a grant, organizations should be considered tax-exempt or seeking support for a project that would qualify as educational or charitable. The Fund's grantmaking is organized around three thematic programs and three place-based programs. The RBF awards a limited number of Philanthropic Stewardship and Special Opportunities grants that support nonprofit infrastructure organizations and help to further the Fund's mission. The Fund does not accept unsolicited applications in these areas.

RBF Program Statement

The Rockefeller Brothers Fund advances social change that contributes to a more just, sustainable, and peaceful world. Through its grantmaking, the Fund supports efforts to expand knowledge, clarify values and critical choices, nurture creative expression, and shape public policy. The Fund's programs are intended to develop leaders, strengthen institutions, engage citizens, build community, and foster partnerships that include government, business, and civil society. Respect for cultural diversity and ecological integrity pervades the Fund's activities.

As an institutional citizen of an interdependent world, the Fund is active globally, nationally, and locally in its home city of New York. Grant programs are organized around three themes: Democratic Practice; Peacebuilding; and Sustainable Development. The Fund recognizes that achievement of progress in each of these program areas is often interconnected with developments in the others. As a private foundation, the Fund strives to promote philanthropic excellence and to enhance the effectiveness of the nonprofit sector.

As specified in the guidelines for each grant program, the Fund supports activities in a variety of geographic contexts. It also has identified several specific locations on which to concentrate cross-programmatic attention. The Fund refers to these as "RBF pivotal places": sub-national areas, nation-states, or cross-border regions which have special importance with regard to the Fund's substantive concerns and whose future will have disproportionate significance for the future of a surrounding region, an ecosystem, or the world. The Fund currently works in three pivotal places: New York City, Southern China, and Western Balkans.

The Pocantico Center of the Rockefeller Brothers Fund is located at the heart of the Rockefeller estate outside New York City and was created when the Fund leased the area from the National Trust for Historic Preservation in 1991. The conference center provides a unique setting where the RBF and other nonprofit organizations and public sector institutions can bring together people of diverse backgrounds and perspectives to engage critical issues, reach new levels of understanding, and develop creative solutions to pressing problems.

In the years since its founding in 1940, the Fund has developed a distinctive style of grantmaking that is reflected in the following characteristics:

Long View. Grantmaking is primarily concerned with fundamental problems and is designed to contribute to the achievement of long-term goals and to make a lasting impact.

Commitment. Extended commitments are frequently made to specific issues and geographic regions and even to particular grantees.

Synergy. Rather than considering opportunities on a stand-alone basis, the Fund looks for connections among the activities it supports and the themes it pursues, both within and across program areas and in specific geographic locations.

Initiative. The Fund initiates or participates in the development of many of the projects that it supports.

Engagement. In addition to providing financial support, the Fund often works closely with grantee organizations to help strengthen their capacity and advance their work Collaboration. The Fund actively seeks opportunities to collaborate with other funders.

Convening. The Fund devotes time and resources, including the use of its Pocantico Conference Center, to convening groups of diverse stakeholders and encouraging collaboration among government agencies, corporations, and nongovernmental organizations.

The goals and strategies in each of our programs are implemented through a variety of approaches to grantmaking. In some programs, as is noted in the guidelines, the Fund proactively identifies grantee partners and thus has limited ability to respond to unsolicited proposals. Grantseekers are encouraged to study the guidelines closely. Prospective grantees are also urged to consult the section "How to Apply" at www.rbf.org for specific guidance on the application process.

RBF PROGRAMS

DEMOCRATIC PRACTICE PROGRAM GUIDELINES

For democracy to flourish and deliver on its promises—including political participation, human rights, access to justice, a good education, an improved quality of life, a healthy environment, and personal security—its citizens must be informed, engaged, empowered, and assertive. Similarly, institutions of governance must be inclusive, transparent, accountable, and responsive.

The frequent failure of both new and established democracies to deliver on democracy's promises undermines the commitment to democratic practices. Wealthy and powerful actors exercise undue influence, and voices that historically have been excluded remain unheard in decision-making processes.

The United States continues to face a number of democratic deficits: a decline in many traditional forms of civic engagement; reduced participation in the formal institutions of democracy, including but not limited to voting; and declining trust in all institutions, especially institutions of government. These deficits are being exacerbated by deeply rooted economic challenges, and American society is becoming increasingly polarized, socially, economically, and politically.

At the same time, the process of globalization has similarly produced democratic deficits in global governance. Global power and wealth inequities have deepened, while the significance of decisions made by transnational institutions such as multilateral organizations, multinational corporations, and international financial institutions has increased. In this patchwork of institutions and practices, global governance decisions are made with inadequate inclusiveness, accountability, and transparency, often pre-empting or distorting legitimate national and local decision-making processes.

The Fund's Democratic Practice program has two parts: strengthening democracy in the United States and strengthening democratic practice in global governance. Based on a careful assessment of local needs and priorities, the Fund also pursues one or more of the democratic principles underlying the program in its "pivotal places." Recognizing that there is no single model of effective democratic practice, the Fund emphasizes flexibility and adaptability to different contexts in these pivotal places.

DEMOCRACY IN THE UNITED STATES

Persistent and deep divisions undermine the nation's, social, economic, and political vitality. The gap between rich and poor, both economic and social, continues to widen, with the top one percent of American wage earners receiving nearly a quarter of the nation's total income. Exorbitant amounts of private money spent on political campaigns and lobbying profoundly distort the political system. Those without the financial resources to influence public policy are further marginalized, and private interests are frequently prioritized over the public good, fostering public cynicism and a distrust of elected officials. According to the Center for Responsive Politics, in 2008 successful candidates for the House of Representatives spent an average of $1.3 million on their campaigns; successful candidates for the Senate spent an average of $8.5 million. Moreover, there were 14,800 registered lobbyists working to influence Congress and federal agencies—27 for every member of Congress—with a total of $3.3 billion spent on lobbying.

The quality of our political culture is deteriorating. There are few examples of bipartisanship and constructive compromise in political debate. While participation in national elections has increased, it remains below that of most advanced democracies and turnout for local elections is persistently low. Furthermore, millions of eligible voters have been kept from voting by registration or identification problems and many others have been discouraged by poor administration of polling places, or worse, by overt efforts at voter suppression. For years, government has been derided as a source of the nation's ills, rather than a positive force for national progress. The capacities of government institutions have been weakened, and confidence in them has declined.

In the media, confrontation often passes for dialogue, crowding out nuanced views and a middle ground. Traditional media organizations face financial challenges that are reducing the number of public voices and limiting journalism's ability to hold government and business accountable. Resources for investigative journalism are shrinking. New media offer opportunities to broaden and redefine journalism but may foster a cacophony of voices without editorial mediation, leaving the public with no way to judge the accuracy or reliability of the information.

All of our nation's democracy deficits are particularly acute among, and disproportionately affect, young people, especially low-income youth, youth of color, and non-college youth. These young people are profoundly disconnected from work, school, and civic institutions. Despite the persistent, systemic problems facing low-income youth and youth of color, there is still reason for optimism about the future of their civic participation. Young people are using new technologies, particularly Internet, video, and social networking tools, to facilitate organizing and build community. Voting rates among young people have increased substantially over the last ten years, especially among African-American youth in the 2008 presidential elections. Finally, the numbers of young people involved in volunteerism is encouraging, though service opportunities too rarely penetrate beyond college campuses and middle- and upper-class communities.

Goal: Strengthening the Vitality of Democracy in the U.S.

In the United States, the Fund seeks to strengthen and to broaden participation in the practices and institutions of democratic governance through the following strategies.

Strategies:

- Combating the corrupting influence of money in politics by supporting the adoption of public financing of electoral campaigns and selected other reforms that increase access to and participation in elections and enhance the integrity of representative democracy.
- Fostering greater understanding of and appreciation for the role of the public sector in society. Support also will be provided on a limited basis to organizations that promote the improved performance of key public sector institutions.
- Promoting the transparency, accountability, and responsiveness of government institutions and the transparency and accountability of corporate political spending, with special attention to the potential of new technologies to enhance transparency and strengthen accountability, and to the importance of investigative journalism.

- Strengthening networks of support for youth-led organizations in which youth define their concerns; develop and harness their own approaches to pursue social change; and form effective and stable constituencies. Organizations led by low-income youth, youth of color, and non-college youth will receive special attention.

GLOBAL GOVERNANCE

Globalization—the dramatic increase in cross-border flows of capital, goods, and people and their values and ideas—is producing deeper interdependencies and changes in power relations. It is a defining process of the 21st century, offering both challenges and opportunities.

Global governance is an incomplete patchwork of institutions, rules, and processes that transcend the authority of individual nations. The elements of global governance are many, including formal agreements among nations; the architecture and practices of international and intergovernmental institutions and international courts; the policies, behaviors, and actions of states and multinational corporations; and the work and influence of civil society organizations.

Economic interests have largely overshadowed democratic practices, social equity, and environmental concerns in the evolution of global governance institutions and processes. Powerful international trade and financial institutions remain opaque and exclusive, while the power and reach of multinational corporations often escape oversight or effective regulation. Thus, while the impact of global governance on peoples' lives is growing, democracy in global governance faces acute deficits. Transparency and accountability in global decision making are often critically deficient. Representation in global governance processes remains limited; underrepresented populations and weaker states have restricted voice and standing, curtailing their access and participation. Injustices persist, as rights are unevenly recognized and ad hoc coordination often substitutes for meaningful democratic processes. Together, these deficits challenge the ability of nations and groups to protect their commonwealth, ensure necessary social and environmental protections, and promote ethical and effective stewardship of common resources.

At the same time, globalization has opened up new opportunities for building cross-border coalitions that are finding innovative ways to address and resolve global problems. Novel combinations of public, private, intergovernmental, and nongovernmental organizations are asserting their concerns, forging new democratic practices, and advancing systemic changes in global processes, rules, and institutions.

Goal: Strengthening the Vitality of Democracy in Global Governance

In its work to strengthen democracy in global governance, the Fund focuses on the areas of climate change, development finance, and trade. The Fund is particularly interested in civil society organizations that represent and advance developing country concerns as they seek to increase equity and foster sustainability.

Strategies:

- Enhancing transparency and accountability of global governance institutions and decision-making processes.
- Expanding access to and participation in global governance institutions and decision-making processes. Priority is given to initiatives led by or in support of constituencies underrepresented in global governance.
- Advancing new ideas, advocacy approaches, and institutional arrangements aimed at more effective and democratic decision making in global governance and more just and sustainable outcomes.

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM GUIDELINES

Human activity is causing climate change, rapid loss of biodiversity, and accelerating degradation of Earth's life support systems. These developments threaten the livelihoods, health, and security of people in all nations and cultures as well as the well-being of the greater community of life. The RBF's sustainable development grantmaking endeavors to address these challenges by supporting development that meets the needs of the present without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their own needs. The program supports global stewardship that is ecologically based, economically sound, socially just, culturally appropriate, and consistent with intergenerational equity. The Fund encourages government, business, and civil society to work collaboratively on climate change, to acknowledge the moral and ethical consequences of inaction, and to make it an integral part of all development planning and activity. Recognizing the global nature of many environmental problems, the Fund also promotes international cooperation in addressing these challenges.

The Sustainable Development program maintains a significant focus on the United States in light of its disproportionate impact on the global economy, politics, and the environment. The program's work is also advanced in collaboration with the Fund's "pivotal place" programs—New York City, Southern China, and the Western Balkans—and with the Democratic Practice program's Global Governance portfolio. Pivotal place programs support work in specific countries or regions to build the knowledge, policies, organizational capacity, and leadership needed to advance sustainable development in locally appropriate ways. The Fund's Global Governance portfolio supports broad participation in forging the international agreements and institutional arrangements needed to encourage investment in sustainable development. Fund staff work to ensure that global developments inform work in specific places and that locally grounded efforts generate lessons and innovations needed for global impact.

With the recognition that the impact of unchecked climate change threatens all other conservation efforts, the Sustainable Development program focuses its U.S. grantmaking on building a green economy at the federal, state, and local levels.

Goal: Advancing Solutions to Climate Change

Strategies:

- Building public and policymaker understanding and support for a range of actions to address the threat of climate change.
- Supporting implementation efforts to build a clean energy economy at the federal, state, and local levels.
- Supporting efforts to reduce reliance on carbon-intensive energy sources.
- Supporting targeted efforts to advance international progress on climate change.

PEACEBUILDING PROGRAM GUIDELINES

Numerous and diverse factors drive contemporary conflicts, from strained relations between governments and groups of people to threats that transcend borders such as environmental crises, the flow of weapons, and violent extremism. In today's interdependent world, regional or local conflicts often have consequences that undermine the security and well-being of distant communities. Transforming conflict to build just and durable peace requires the global community to think differently about how it responds to the complex nature of 21st century challenges. Governments, multilateral organizations, and civil society must work in concert to develop a new framework for conflict prevention and peacebuilding that engages international, regional, state, and local actors in addressing the human security challenges of local populations.

As the world evolves rapidly toward a multipolar reality in which a growing array of nations pursue their national interests from positions of shifting political and economic power, the United States continues to play an important role in global efforts to create a more just, sustainable, and peaceful world. U.S. policies and behaviors that demonstrate respect for the competencies and perspectives of both traditional allies and emerging powers can help create a greater sense of shared responsibility and advance collective problem-solving to prevent, manage, and resolve conflicts. Civil society organizations have a significant role to play in promoting non-violent responses to conflict and cultivating the political climate necessary for official peacebuilding and diplomatic negotiations to succeed. They also are important advocates for a more robust multilateral system that is effective at brokering peace agreements.

The Fund's Peacebuilding program aspires to strengthen grassroots constituencies for peace and to connect them with policymaking on the regional and international levels. It aims to understand the conditions that lead to violence and the processes that support durable peace in order to identify innovative solutions to the most pressing drivers of insecurity. The program's grantmaking focuses on conflicts that have a disproportionate influence on international peace and security. It works closely with the Fund's Pivotal Place programs, especially in the Western Balkans, and with the Global Governance portfolio of the Democratic Practice program. The Fund places particular importance on elevating the role of women and young leaders in international peacebuilding and conflict transformation efforts.

Goal: Advancing Just and Durable Peace

The Fund will pursue the following interrelated strategies with respect to select conflicts.

Strategies:

- Supporting innovative and collaborative approaches and policies for conflict prevention, management, and transformation at the multilateral, regional, and national levels.
- Strengthening constituencies and political will for conflict transformation and durable peace.
- Exploring solutions to emerging transnational threats and drivers of conflict (specific focus to be developed).

The program is currently focusing a significant portion of its grantmaking on the wider Middle East.

PIVOTAL PLACE: NEW YORK CITY PROGRAM GUIDELINES

The Rockefeller Brothers Fund has been active in New York City since its founding there in 1940. New York City's extraordinarily diverse population, economic prominence, and cultural vitality combine to make the city pivotal to the future of its region, the nation, and the world. New York City has the potential to be a model 21st century sustainable urban community that nourishes neighborhoods and civic life, encourages immigrant civic and political participation, supports individual achievement and artistic expression, generates widely shared prosperity, and preserves and enhances its built and natural environments. Linked as it is to the region, the nation, and the world, New York City can become a beacon of excellence and a force for positive change both within and well beyond its boundaries.

Two of the Fund's three program areas—sustainable development and democratic practice—are reflected in the RBF's engagement with New York City as a pivotal place. The Charles E. Culpeper Arts & Culture Grants are a distinctive feature of the Pivotal Place: New York City program.

DEMOCRATIC PRACTICE

In the absence of national immigrant integration policies much can be accomplished at the local level to remove barriers to immigrant and new citizen civic and political engagement. The Fund will focus on immigrant communities throughout its Democratic Practice grantmaking in New York City by pursuing the following goal and strategies:

Goal: Advancing the Civic and Political Participation of Immigrant Communities

Strategies:

- Strengthening the organizational capacity of a limited number of key community-based and immigrant-led groups to advance citywide social and political equity issues.
- Supporting collaborations and new networks among immigrants, established community groups, and public institutions to improve local government accountability, access, and services. A special interest of the Fund is to strengthen citywide multi-group collaboration and strategic alliances to advance public education advocacy efforts that promote accountability, transparency, and equal access for all public institutions.

- Connecting immigrant groups with citywide, national, and international networks and campaigns for joint action on immigration issues, mutual support, and leadership development. Special attention will be given to projects that align with RBF-related thematic areas.

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT

New York City is poised to become a model of urban sustainable development and environmental stewardship for the next century. However, the city faces complex development challenges driven by projections of significant population growth, limited space, and the imperatives of climate change mitigation and adaptation. Against these challenges, PlaNYC and the adoption of state and local legislation to advance green economic development in the city offer promising new avenues for the development of sustainable New York communities.

Goal: Building Sustainable Communities

Following on a history of support for community and waterfront development and brownfield remediation, the Fund seeks to engage low-income communities and communities of color in the development of an equitable clean energy economy in New York City.

Strategies:

- Promoting civic engagement in vital, green, and sustainable communities with an emphasis on restoring the city's waterfront for community use.
- Supporting implementation efforts to build a clean energy economy in New York City, particularly in the buildings sector. Grantmaking under this strategy is carried out in collaboration with the Fund's Sustainable Development program.

CHARLES E. CULPEPER ARTS & CULTURE GRANTS

The Charles E. Culpeper Arts & Culture Grants honor the legacy of Charles E. Culpeper by supporting the artists and arts and cultural organizations that make New York City one of the world's most dynamic creative capitals. These grants support the creative process, build the capacity of small and mid-size arts and cultural institutions, and promote the pursuit of the creative life.

The standard online grant inquiry process does not apply for these grants. Applications may only be submitted online at www.rbf.org. Because of the response to the 2011 request for proposals, the Fund will not be issuing requests for proposals in 2012 and 2013.

Grantee organizations must wait a minimum of three years from their grant final payment before reapplying.

Goal: Supporting the Creative Process

The Fund seeks to foster an environment in which artists and the creative process can flourish through the following strategy:

Strategy:

- Supporting organizations that assist individual artists and the creative process, providing infrastructure to sustain the artistic life, and offering artists additional opportunities to develop skills complementary to their creative talents.

Goal: Building Capacity in Cultural Organizations

The Fund seeks to sustain and advance small and mid-size cultural organizations, particularly those that are community-based and/or culturally specific, with annual budgets under $4 million, through the following strategies:

Strategies:

- Giving non-renewable, capacity-building grants as added vitality in the immediate term.

PIVOTAL PLACE: SOUTHERN CHINA PROGRAM GUIDELINES

In March 2004, the Rockefeller Brothers Fund decided to concentrate its Asian grantmaking in Southern China, one of the fastest growing and most dynamic regions of the world. This focus builds on the Fund's history of philanthropy in East and Southeast Asia and continues over a century of Rockefeller family philanthropy in China which includes the founding of the Peking Union Medical College in 1917.

The Fund's geographic area of interest encompasses the nine diverse and increasingly interconnected provinces of the Pan Pearl River Delta—Guangdong, Guangxi, Hunan, Yunnan, Sichuan, Guizhou, Fujian, Hainan, and Jiangxi—and, to a lesser extent, Hong Kong and Macau. This region accounts for one-third of China's population and 40 percent of its GDP. It has played a pivotal role in China's extraordinary progress over the last 30 years, progress which includes, among many achievements, the elevation of hundreds of millions of people out of extreme poverty and the growth of China's economy into the second largest in the world. In practice, RBF grantmaking also connects work in southern China with Beijing-based institutions and stakeholders because of their importance in addressing regional and national sustainable development challenges.

Southern China's rapid development, however, has been accompanied by profound challenges including environmental degradation and growing disparities between rich and poor, urban and rural which, if not addressed, threaten the sustainability of development in the region, the country, and the world. With innovative government policy, a vibrant marketplace, and growing public participation, China has the potential to lead the world in sustainable approaches to development. The RBF's southern China grantmaking seeks to assist indigenous Chinese efforts to: 1) prevent and mitigate environmental pollution and improve the well-being of the Chinese people; 2) further sustainable energy practices and climate change solutions; and 3) strengthen community leadership for sustainable development.

At the core of all of the RBF's work in southern China is a fundamental belief in the wisdom, creativity, and resourcefulness of the Chinese people. The Fund will encourage multidisciplinary approaches to problem solving that integrate social, economic, environmental, and cultural concerns; and it will seek to foster collaboration at all levels and across sectors—government, business, civil society, and academia.

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT

Goal: Mitigating Environmental Pollution and Its Impact on Public Health

Strategies:

- Building knowledge, capacity, and cross-sector, cross-discipline collaborations.
- Strengthening public participation in environmental governance by promoting accountability, transparency, and access to information.
- Encouraging responsible corporate behavior in protecting the environment and public health.

Goal: Advancing Solutions to Climate Change

Strategies:

- Supporting a broad range of initiatives to assist China's efforts to reduce greenhouse gas emissions, with a strong emphasis on work at the provincial and local levels to promote energy conservation and clean energy production.
- Building understanding and facilitating cooperation between the United States and China in pursuing effective policy and action on energy and climate challenges.

Goal: Strengthening Community Leadership to Support Sustainable Development

Strategies:

- Nurturing indigenous philanthropy.
- Strengthening the capacity of key civil society institutions, including the development of emerging leaders.

PIVOTAL PLACE: WESTERN BALKANS PROGRAM GUIDELINES

The Rockefeller Brothers Fund (RBF) has been engaged in grantmaking in the Western Balkans since 2001. At that time, in light of the region's long history of instability and the recent conclusion of the Balkan wars of the 1990s, the prospect of a peaceful, democratic, and prosperous Europe hinged, in part, on the Balkans' successful transition to a post-Communist and post-conflict era. During its first years in the Western Balkans, the Fund's grantmaking aimed to nurture healthy democratic processes, support regional initiatives to debunk persistent myths and prejudices, and encourage development of a vibrant civil society. The Fund's work in the Balkans, and especially in Serbia, Montenegro, and Kosovo, builds on its 20-year experience in Central and Eastern Europe, supporting transition processes and helping to create conditions for their accession to the European Union.

The countries of the Western Balkans are now focused on realizing their own European integration aspirations, as accession brings with it the promise of stability and rule of law—necessary prerequisites for long-term peace, prosperity, and democracy. To support that vision, the Fund will help create the enabling legal, fiscal, and political environment for EU membership, giving special attention to democratic practice and sustainable development requirements. Engagement and leadership of youth in building a sustainable future for the region, facing the past, and establishing a truth and reconciliation process will continue to be part of the RBF's support in the region.

The RBF will continue to work closely with civil society groups, governmental institutions, and other funding organizations to highlight the richness of the region's ethnic, gender, age, cultural, and racial diversity and to promote the values of a tolerant and inclusive society.

The RBF is pursuing the following goals and strategies across the Western Balkans region:

DEMOCRATIC PRACTICE

Goal: Improving the Performance, Transparency, and Accountability of Government

Strategies:

- Enhancing the capacity of civil society to monitor the quality of public sector governance and service delivery
- Strengthening the investigative and educational practices of media and nongovernmental organizations
- Strengthening the capacity of government and nongovernmental institutions to conduct sound policy analysis

Goal: Building Civil Society Capacity and Effectiveness to Strengthen Participatory Democracy

Strategies:

- Strengthening the organizational and financial capacity of the civic sector
- Stimulating indigenous philanthropy and solidarity in society

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT

Goal: Building a Culture and Practice of Sustainable Development

Strategies:

- Contributing to participatory and inclusive approaches to the design and implementation of strategies for sustainable development
- Supporting educational reforms to include sustainable development concepts and practices as part of curriculum
- Introducing and encouraging energy efficiency and environmental protection approaches in economic and infrastructure development

PEACEBUILDING

Goal: Strengthening Constituencies for Reconciliation and Enduring Peace

Strategies:

- Supporting efforts to establish and disseminate the truth about atrocities and mass violations of
