With linked open data, implementers of the vocabularies may freely link and use the data in digital art history and other applications. Data files are heavily used by not-for-profits. The Getty vocabularies are implemented in many collection management systems and Web sites around the world, providing access to those users for indexing, retrieval, and discovery. The Linked Open Data (LOD) releases of the Getty vocabularies have been called "game changers", and monthly statistics of their use is testament to their utility, averaging per month over 1,000,000 records (92.95 GB of data) accessed and downloaded from the LOD site. The publications of the Vocabulary Program were freely available and heavily used, including Introduction to Controlled Vocabularies, the online Categories for the Description of Works of Art, editorial manuals, training modules (http://www.getty.edu/research/tools/vocabularies/training.html), cataloguing examples, and sample data for downloading and testing, all was available free of charge on the GRIs Web site. The Getty Vocabulary Program consulted free of charge with dozens of vocabulary contributors, users, and translation projects. Digital Collections: The Research Institute continued its production of digitization of books, photographs, works on paper, and other special collection material during FY2018. The images, created and ingested this year total over 456,000 individual files from the special collections and 2,085,000 pages from the library's book collections. The GRIs repositories now contain more than 10 million individual digital files. These are available to the public free-of-charge over the Internet via the Gettys website as well as other digital repositories such as the Internet Archive (http://archive.org), the ARTstor Digital Library (http://www.artstor.org), and the Digital Public Library of America (http://dp.la). Users worldwide have downloaded GRIs digitized books more than 21 million times. Residential Scholars Program and Grants: During the 2017/2018 scholar year, the theme at the Getty Research Institute was Iconoclasm and Vandalism, and the Getty Villa Scholars Program was The Classical World in Context: Persia. Getty Scholars and Getty Fellows began their residencies in September. Throughout the course of the scholar year Visiting Scholars arrived and worked at the Research Institute and Villa for periods of three to nine months. Participants pursued their individual projects, conversed in the weekly scholar presentation, attended lectures and other events, took part in workshops, and informally shared their ideas with staff and with one another. During fiscal year 2018 the research institute awarded a total of 96 grants, including (55) grants to scholar and fellow participants in the scholar year (including gci, neh, museum, rothschild, and the president's council scholar), (34) library research grants, and (7) graduate interns.

The workshop aimed to equip professionals entrusted with the care of outdoor painted sculpture with the practical and theoretical tools to design effective treatment strategies for these objects, including how to diagnose coatings failure, select paint systems, surface preparation, and application methods, as well as local retouching. Over five days, eighteen participants from Europe, Asia, and North America attended hands-on practical sessions, lectures, and discussions, they also made site visits to sculpture parks and to an industrial paint applicator. In May 2018 the GCI, in partnership with the National Center for Preservation Training and Technology, presented a three-day training course on the preservation and conservation of modern heritage at the Getty Center. The course was designed to provide professionals with an opportunity to increase their basic knowledge of the conservation of modern buildings. The training will include an introduction to conservation principles, methodology, and technical best practices, as well as providing guidance on available resources. The Getty Conservation Institute's Science department lead 13 tours of our facilities to conservation professionals or groups, local colleges and universities (including Harvey Mudd College, University of Southern California Summer conservation students and school of architecture students, Occidental College, UC San Diego chemistry department, Pomona College, Santa Monica College, UCLA and UC Irvine, as well as local high school groups, and other professional organizations including the Albuquerque Academy, representative from the City of Lincoln, UK, the California Los Padres American Chemical Society, and the American Association for the Advancement of Sciences. The GCI hosted seven conservation guest scholars who conducted their own research on topics including creating a framework for surveying collections of time-based media art held in museums, galleries and private collections, the conservation of heritage masonry structures, development of a publication on the history and conservation of glass-supported photographs, and researching the positive changes impacting Derry, Northern Ireland's built and natural heritage following the decades-long troubles as well as the lessons learned for other cities recovering from division and conflict. The Getty Conservation Institute hosted a two-year postdoctoral fellow in the Science department working with the GCI Sciences newly-formed 'Treatment Studies' research area and will be an integral part of working with colleagues in related research areas, such as Materials Characterization. The GCI's postdoctoral fellowship is a two-year program designed to provide recent PhDs in chemistry and the physical sciences with experience in conservation science. The Getty Conservation Institute began a professional fellowship program offering three, three-year fellowships for conservators interested in preventive conservation and the management of museum environments. The GCI Professional Fellowship program is designed for conservation professionals in an early phase of their careers and provides opportunities for acquiring additional experience working as a member of an established project team. The Conservation Institute continued to make available additional didactic resources that have been produced and used in the Institute's courses, workshops, and field training including teaching schedules, session outlines, bibliographies, technical notes, and videos. During this fiscal year, the GCI published online in PDF format five publications related to GCI projects. Two issues of Conservation Perspectives, The GCI Newsletter were distributed free of charge around the world to over 8,000 international professionals in conservation and related fields and members of the public concerned about conservation. The GCI's YouTube channel made available over 200 videos on a variety of GCI activities including GCI projects, lectures, symposia and conferences for conservation professionals around the world. During the 2018 fiscal year, GCI videos have received over 140,000 views from around the world for a total of nearly 550,000 minutes watched. The GCI Bulletin, a free bimonthly e-bulletin providing up-to-date information on the activities of the Getty Conservation Institute, was distributed free of charge to professional colleagues around the world. The GCI's free online comprehensive research database of abstracts and key resource for the professionals in the field of conservation, AATA Online, reviewed, abstracted, and indexed nearly 4,000 articles and papers from journals and conference proceedings representing the field's core literature. During the 2018 fiscal year, AATA Online had nearly 40,000 visitors to the site. The GCI's Informa

The center responded to over 4,500 inquiries from staff, scholars, interns, and members of the interested public, acquired over 1,500 new titles for the Conservation Collection in the Research Library at the Getty Research Institute which increased the collection to more than 53,500 titles. The Institutes website (www.getty.edu/conservation/) added 37 new pages, which included six new projects, six new publications in PDF, and one project video. Enhancements to the website continued throughout the year, including a filter that allows users to easily search for all publications that are available at no cost. The GCI now offers 168 free PDF publications from a total collection of 199 publications overall. In addition to hundreds of online resources, additional GCI publications were made available free of charge on the Getty Web site during this time period including Epidemiology: Basic Ideas Applied to Museum Collections, Valley of the Queens Assessment Report Volumes, Conservation of the Architectural Surfaces in the Tablinum of the House of the Bicentenary, Herculaneum, Documenting Painted Surfaces for Outdoor Painted Sculptures, Keep it Moving?
